

Sir Douglas Mawson Resumes His Duties

An exclusive photograph, taken yesterday, of the famous explorer working at his microscope in the Geological Laboratory at the Adelaide University. Sir Douglas Mawson returned from England by the Maloja on Saturday, and until his departure for the Antarctic, the date of which has not yet been fixed, he will continue his work at the University as Professor of Geology.