Dear Sonow,

It's a real pleasure to send the reproduction of Anne Eliza's photo. It's come up well - the original as in repro. of course faded with age.

There's a letter of yours unanswered & also sorry to have missed having a word when you say through also a couple of days ago the three books arrived - thank you so very much. A swift look at the same J's. Corp. reports transported me.

Your letter with suggestions & remarks re writing something of interest noted & at least

I'd always thought of Rene's as being in the Gulf of Carpentaria!

Dear Honor, Thank you so very much for package of books that has developed into a tremendous thrill. To see that sombre, dear Beacon which has more or less ^{been} with me through life wrapped in sun - shine was really something.

As for Anne Ely's grave I don't know how I feel. It's been the other lunch grave that has been with me but must admit the photograph + description have made Rene's with it's part, as far as I'm concerned, very much alive. Any way at least two of our family are fixed up to go, look & see - so parents + children will keep memory flowing. I'm afraid it's too late to ask or suggest I be allowed to help restore my grandmother's grave but ^{you} send my a cheque, that it be used in some practical way as requested.

She's a really nice, friendly person - they have three sons. May be she can fill in some blank spots from her say. I'll get in touch with her or at least try to. They shifted house last year & so far I haven't heard where they're now. Love to you both & thank you again. Best love from

Dear Honor

A swift line to say I'm at last followed your suggestion re trying to write a little about Annalya. Of whom the world is not worthy! Of course have become completely wrapped with her. Thank you very much for the spare one. I dug out bits of her diary that father incidently had a loan of when writing adventures in Coral Seas. Am working on it at present & trying to reconcile dates. Will send it with her photograph & I hope a photo of a most beautiful patch work bed spread she made during the isolated time on the farm out of Cambridge ^{to the night laundry} ⁱⁿ ^{somehow} its hanging together - kind busy but felt you should have it & look ship to see it was delivered.

Will of course send you a copy & your heart felt thanks. Love to you two from us.
Yours Tran.

Dear Joan,

Another co-incidence! Harry woke up on Friday with a definite urge to write about Raine Island, + had gone to the National Library to search for documents; I had already begun a letter to you + then your letter was delivered by a neighbour! We are delighted + excited that you are writing about your grandmother + that you have her Diaries - wonderful. Dr Lowrey will be very happy indeed, especially if you can quote from the Diaries I think.

We have recently found entries in the Beundel Diaries about the arrival of the Ellis family on Raine Is. + will be sending any that we can find - + decipher - to Dr Lowrey. Harry is also working on the early history of Beundel + the Guano Trade. He would like to find out how the first Guano licence was obtained for Raine Is.

The Grumble Papers have been re-named "Tungaru Traditions"; we have not received any copies yet. Harry asks if you are aware that the book's contents are anthropological field notes intended for specialists' reading +, we hope, for the Gilbertese people themselves. Harry wrote two papers for the latter, one on the sitting places in the maneaba + the other on the building itself + the Gilbertese bought them by the hundreds. He also wrote a book be returned if after finding it "suitably copied" may I keep it for the Maude Special Collection in the Ross Smith Library in Adelaide University?

P.S. Did I thank you for the photo? I sent it to D & J recently.

on the terrible slave trade from Peru to islands in Polynesia & in the Southern Gilberts. A horrible story which he did at the request of people whose grandparents had been taken by "men stealing ships" & never seen again.

What a digression. If you still would like to have Gemble Harey will get you a copy.

Very many thanks for your letter & for such good news, we look forward to seeing you a count of Annie Elyza's life.

Our love to you both. Honor.
