officer, and (to the great gain of litera-ture) ran away in his first buttle. He found his way to Rome, and, when an annexty was granted to his party, managed to obtain a elerkship in the terminal con-writing verses under stress of poverty. Locky man, if he were able to sell any, writes at all it must be under compulsion of some sort. Like Rossini, he om-posed best a few days before the per-grey more calm old friends were able to saist him without danger to themselves. He was introduced to Macconar, this con-sistent him the said of the con-sistent him the said of the con-tained of the said o

The Poetry, orace began work as a poet in 33 B.C., the first book of Sattres. These are in the one metre, hearneter, made like the property of the property of the strainer of the strainer of the world anything but enthe sam. He has my hearty empathy and the sam. He has my hearty empathy and the strainer of the strai lived so long and wrote es well in Lake land.

Dr. Gow add that Horace might have been a Greetian that he was. He faither was createn that he was createn that he was the faither of the work of the country for the work of the properties of the country for the work of the

PAGES FROM HORACE

THE APPEAL OF THE CLASSICS.

THE APPEAL OF THE CLASSICS.

There was an appreciative addition at the Page Army and blance at the Page Army and plant and and for three books of a vuriar upstart, and should be a second of the secon

Apr. 26 . 3.26 NEW GOVERNMENT BUILDINGS.

PROGRESS ON NORTH-TERRACE.

A MINISTERIAL INSPECTION

An inspection of building opera-tions being conducted by the Gov-ernment at the rear of the Uni-versity, and in the grounds of the Adelaide Hospital, revealed that big schemes are approaching com-pletion. Others are contemplated.

Surprising developments in Governmen buildings, not widely known to the public were witnessed yesterday in a Ministeria inspection of operations in progress at the rear of the University, and on a block of land facing Kintorearone. The inspection was made by the Premier (Hos. J. Gunn) and the Chief Spectary (Hon. J. Jelley). They were shown over the grounds by the Architecture (Mr. A. J. Gunn) and Architecture (Mr. A. J. Gunn) and Architecture (Mr. A. A. Gunn) and Architecture (Mr. A. Gunn) and Architecture (Mr. A. A. Gunn) and Architecture (Mr. A. Gunn) and Architect grounds by E. Simpson), Educational.

The buildings inspected there were the Technical College, the walls of which are now ten or twelve feet high; the Teachers' Training College, which is rapidly approaching completion, and the