

Cathedral Preacher

It is almost two years since the Rev. Philip Carrington, M.A., took over the duties of special preacher at St. Peter's Cathedral and Warden of St. Barnabas' College. During that time he has made his presence felt in many spheres of church work.

REV. P. CARRINGTON, M.A.

If anything has claimed his particular attention outside his special ministry, it is his effort to guide and instruct the children who attend the Cathedral. From the outset his sympathetic understanding assured for him success in that regard. He is keenly interested in the Boy Scout movement.

As a preacher he has also proved popular. He has a vigorous and original style, and although he is a man of great erudition he always manages to be deceptively simple. He is far from being interested in the more serious side of life, his chief interest being that of simple independence and much deep thinking. Some idea of his originality in leaving the beaten track in church matters can be gained from the fact that last year, children in the cathedral staged a spiritual play in the Cathedral. At the same time he has a profound respect for tradition. While in New Zealand his first sport was rowing, but now coming to Adelaide he has not indulged in it to any great extent. In his lighter moments, however, he can be prevailed upon to recite a little humoursome verse.

Mr. Carrington was born in England, but was educated in New Zealand. After attending the Christchurch University he went to Cambridge, where he secured the Bachelor's honor in Theology and the Chancellor's gold medal in English literature. In 1915 he returned to New Zealand, and was ordained by Dr. C. Julius (Archbishop of New Zealand).

WOMEN'S FUND FOR TEACHERS COLLEGE.

In recognition of her splendid voluntary social work and the interests of women students at the Teachers' College, Miss Phoebe Watson has been appointed women's warden at that institution. The position will carry a salary of £40 a year in addition to her annual remuneration of £400, which she receives as senior lecturer. Her new duties, which date as from January 1, include exercising a general oversight of the women students in the college—an average of 200—and regard to physical welfare, their moral tone, deportment, manners, habits, and companionship; selection and inspection of boarding places; advice by correspondence to former students in the country; to give women help in difficult situations; the organization and chaperonage of social functions and sports, and generally to maintain a high standard of ideals and conduct in the college. Work on these lines has been carried on by Miss Watson ever since she joined the staff about three years ago as lecturer, and the Education Department afforded her every assistance and encouragement. Until now, however, she has been given no official status in the matter. As the college is non-residential, her efforts in behalf of the many country students is of particular value, and she is in charge of model country schools. She was at the Queen Street Practising School for 12 years. A similar position to that of Miss Watson is in existence in the Sydney Teachers' College.
