My dear Ron,

Your letter of congratulation arrived the morning after the R.S.S. meeting, & I feel I must take the opportunity of once again expressing my thanks to you for the very high honour conferred on me - not only for bringing my name forward, but also for those early formative years at Rothamsted when working under you made all the difference to my outlook.

on statistics. I trust as Cyril Darlington has so aptly expressed it that "my & intellectual muscles will not consequently dwindle", and that I may continue to assist in the development of a decent standard of statistics, and the elimination of statistical nonsense.

With kind regard.

Yours sincerely
Frank Yates.
