

November 10, 1942

My dear Anderson,

I am writing this to introduce to you a Dutch geneticist, whose name you perhaps already know, Dr E. Fortuyn, formerly of the Rockefeller Hospital at Peking, who has, I understand, been invited to take up a post at St. Louis.

I believe the line of Dr Fortuyn's past researches, and his attitude towards evolutionary problems has so much in common with yours that you will be glad to make contact with him in St Louis, and to do him the good service of giving him further genetical introductions.

Yours sincerely,