

3 March 1944

My dear Bliss,

Many thanks for your Christmas card, which arrived early in March. Perhaps it went round the world the wrong way.

The Connecticut postmark on its very handsome stamp shows that it did start in time for the last Christmas, and was not meant for the one before.

I expect you will be sending me offprints from time to time, so that I can follow, at least in outline, the lines of work you are now engaged on.

Yours sincerely,
