

17 August 1943

My dear Bliss,

It was kind of you to write and send me your good wishes. I do hope I may see you again in England, or in the States for that matter, before many years pass. You must be greatly encouraged by the way your work is now being received, particularly in your own country. For the Agricultural Research Council veterinary experiments I have been tentatively using methods which may interest you, though I am only exploring the difficulties at the moment.

Yours sincerely,