

The University of Melbourne

Melbourne,

July<sup>N.S.</sup> 24 1930

Dear Dr Davidson:

(I am quite sure that, even if you could get a supply of any species of "pouched mice" (which I doubt), they would never find their way home unless taken by someone prepared to devote all his time to them — and even then, probably would not breed. They are exceedingly difficult to deal with in any way. I enclose
T. Woodhouse.