

28th March, 1956.

Dear Mr. Dunn,

I took the matter up with Healy in Yates's absence, and after some consideration, and my representations of urgency, if anything was worth doing at all, he has agreed to put the machine to work on it, and tells me that he hopes to complete it, barring accidents, by the end of April.

All this was on the basis that you were willing to provide the honorarium of 25 guineas, which I originally suggested. Perhaps you will confirm this to Healy direct.

Sincerely yours,
