

22 November 1944

My dear Henry,

Congratulations on the present paper, which I have just been reading. It must be an immense satisfaction to you to have such a satisfactory outcome of your work which must have been spread out over many years.

There is a Royal Society Dining Club dinner at the Holborn Restaurant on November 30th at 6 for 6.30. Could you possibly be my guest?

If it suited you, I could put you up for the night at Cambridge, the chief drawback being the very slow return train to Oxford.

Yours sincerely,