

21 September 1943

My dear Henry.

I am so glad you are enjoying the work on the butterfly book, which I do feel you are peculiarly well qualified to write. It is delightful to know that you are not cramped for first-class illustrations.

I have just had a letter from Tucker with some interesting diagrams of homozygous short-tailed mice and asking for more material, which in time I shall be able to accumulate. It is very good to know that he is now so ^{thoroughly} very interested and able to get on with it. I am sure he will make a first-class paper.

Thanks for the trellis diagrams for 1941 and 1942. I should not have troubled you about it save that studying the 1943 data made me want to try some new dodges.

Yours sincerely,
