

3 June 1943

My dear Henry,

It is immensely kind of you to write as you do, and I should like you to realize that such a welcome for my new undertaking means more than you can easily imagine.

I'm so glad you can fix on the 12th. I was half-fraid that, what with Hospital work and other things, you would be too unbearably burdened. Let me know later when to expect you.

Yours sincerely,