

14th. January, 1943.

My dear Henry,

It was most kind of you to write, for I had become somewhat confused as to our next meeting. I remember now that you were to spend the next week-end in return over here. I hope you will be comfortable if I can book a room at the "White Hart.

I think I had that infectious sort of jaundice about eight years ago, I remember a perfectly miserable time. I do hope you are feeling better now.

. Yes. I think I can travel Friday afternoon, but I have not fixed the train. I am hoping to see Taylor to -day and to hear something about the Radcliffe material.

Yours sincerely,
