

Beddington
York.

Saturday.

[9 April 1941]

My dear Fisher,

Thank you so much for the typescript of what we hope to get done in regard to blood-proofing. I will do all I can to try to get the matter arranged on my return to Oxford.
As you know, I am greatly impressed with its importance - Many thanks also for the note about the Secreting factor. The frequencies are much more like Friedenreich's (which I originally saw) than those which Saylor gives on, I gather, later evidence of Wiener's - and possibly some data of his own, though I cannot be sure of this.

With best wishes to Ruth,

Yours sincerely,

Henry