Dear Dr. Fisher:-

I am very much pleased that you are able and willing to examine my manuscript for errors of statistics or of genetics. The fee you mention for doing the work is satisfactory to us.

The manuscript has not yet reached its final form. There are several references to the literature yet to be made, literature list to be added, etc., but the arguments and line of reasoning are all there. Is there something that I have overlooked or have I wandered astray at some point? Or is it possible that the whole idea is wrong? These and similar matters are the point on which I wish your opinion.

Sincerely,

H. D. Goodale
