

3rd May, 1956.

My dear Irwin,

I wonder if you have not any news of my little paper, submitted on November 4th, 1955, to the Research Section of the Royal Statistical Society, of which I returned the galley proof, on January 12th, to Miss Croker.

I am quite aware that such criticism will be displeasing to the President, but I believe this is no reason why the paper should be delayed; a good many other people are interested. I suppose it is due in the first number of 1956, but I do not know when this is to be expected.

Yours sincerely,
