Dear Sir Ronald,

In reply to your letter of March 20 I have discussed it with dr. Hauge and dr. Harvald. It is of course not difficult to ask the grown-up monozygotic twins if they are smokers or not-smokers, but it is difficult to differentiate the group smokers. One person smokes perhaps 20 cigarettes a day, another 2, but it is a question if you can rely on the information the twins themselves give concerning this question. If you give exact instructions concerning your suggested investigation on smoking habits dr. Hauge and dr. Harvald are willing to carry out the investigation if it isn't too complicated.

Sincerely yours,

T. King
