Dear Dr. Kemp:

I hope I may see you when you are in London for the Anthropological Congress, especially if you are good enough to look me up at the Galton Laboratory, where I am now working. I expect the section on Anthropometry will be holding its sessions in our lecture room.

I should also have much pleasure in introducing you to my old colleagues at Rothamsted, which is near where I live, if you find time during your stay to visit Rothamsted Experimental Station.

Yours sincerely,

P.S. A batch of your reprints has also arrived with your letter, for which I thank you. I am very glad to add them to my collection.
