Dear Kempthorne,

As your paper submitted to Heredity was a bit mathematical, I took the liberty of submitting it, as an alternative, to the Proceedings of the Royal Society. I have just heard from the secretary that there is no summary ~~of~~ the paper, and that their regulations call for three copies of the summary to be submitted with the typescript. I expect you have a carbon of the original which will serve if you need a reminder as to the main points to put in the summary.

They ask for it as soon as possible.

With best wishes.

Yours sincerely,
