

1st October, 1945.

Dear Dr. Levine,

Thank-you for your letter of September 6th, and the enclosed offprint. I am glad you say something of the importance of Rice and Taylor, which seemed for a time in danger of being under appreciated. I quite thought that Wiener stuck to his original ideas beyond the point that was really tenable, but the whole subject seems well on the way to being cleared up.

Yours sincerely,
