My dear McCrea,

Many thanks for your kind note, especially for your last sentence in which you express the hope to come down and dine with us. This I very much hope you will do, and to facilitate your choice of date I may say now that I shall fly to India on December 6th, returning about January 12th.

I expect you have heard from Courtney-Pratt, who, like myself, wants to probe further into the nature of space and time.

Sincerely yours,
