

17th October, 1953.

My dear McCrea,

Thank you very much for your letter telling me about the arrangements for Chandrasekhar's Darwin Lecture and the subsequent dinner at the R.A.S. Club. I assume that Sciama may be dining and driving back that night, though of course it will not matter if some other arrangement is being made. Ordinarily with society dinners I come back by the 10.24 train from Liverpool Street. It will be a very great pleasure to dine with you again and renew my contact with the R.A.S. Dining Club.

Sincerely yours,
