Dear Dr. Fisher,

I received a letter from Dr. Rivett this morning and he mentions that you are anxious to obtain some information regarding the genetics of pouched mice and also to obtain some of these creatures.

Dr. Rivett says that the information he received from Mrs. Allan was insufficient to enable him to get a precise idea of what was required and he suggested that I should ask you for further details, which we will send on to the Council, who have promised to do everything possible to accede to your request.

Yours sincerely,

John Wiggall.
