

2nd December, 1955.

My dear Payne,

I have not heard from you for ages.

I had been rather hoping to hear more of the several screeds which you were writing last summer. In particular I hoped for one really elementary and qualitative for Heredity explaining why the hexagonal segmental functions will not work, and another, either for the Proc. Roy. Soc. or, if you preferred it, for a specialized mathematical journal, setting out the general properties of the whole class of functions.

I am sure you have really done all the work necessary for both of these, and that they only need looking at with a view to a title and summary, and such things as sub-headings.

I hope all goes well.

Sincerely yours,
