Haslemere.

Dear Sir Humphrey Rolleston,

I have now heard officially from Dr. Blacker that the Eugenics Society do wish to support the Annals of Eugenics to the extent of £500 per year. This offer has been made to me unconditionally, but one of the advantages to the Society which I had looked for from joint publication was that they should be publically associated with the Journal. I write, therefore, to ask if you would be willing for your name to appear as member of an Editorial Committee which I am forming, and to which I am asking also Dr. Fraser Roberts to be a member. I have also invited Professor Ruggles Gates who suggests that he would prefer to appear as representing the International Federation of Eugenics Organisations.

As the scope and character of the Journal becomes established, I hope also to add other distinguished names to the Committee.

Yours sincerely,
