My dear Taylor,

Thanks for your note of May 28th. It is most interesting that you have been able to obtain even a small amount of the Edinburgh AB material, and really very reassuring that the grouping errors in Edinburgh seem to be principally the classification of B persons as AB. This shows that if we had used the AB's in estimating the proportion of A to O in our racial comparison, we should, as I had suspected, have unduly inflated the proportion of A's from Scotland and detracted materially from the really striking evidence we have of a low A percentage in that country.

Yours sincerely,
