

The Galton Laboratory

November 25, 1939

My dear Taylor,

Many thanks for your letter and enclosed data. I imagine that I ought to wait for the further subdivision which Thomas thinks possible before attempting to use the material. I do not know whether you noticed that in his larger group of military cases the total is given at 3020, whereas the four frequencies add up to 3057. Perhaps he can let me know which value should be taken as correct. I have not yet checked my work on Wolff and Johnson, but will send a line later as to how it comes out.

A few days ago I set an application going for the Zeitschrift für Rassenphysiologie through the central library of the University, which was open and rather glad to see a client. As in other cases, and particularly so now, I imagine that, after a long time, they will produce the goods, but as I imagine the machinery now involves digging in some provincial dump for indexes, etc, I think it might be well worth while, if you are making a visit to town, to give a little time to digging it out at the Anthropological Society. In fact, I could remain copying out any frequencies that seemed useful while you worked off any other business you may have.

In any case I should very much enjoy the chance of seeing you again and talking over our mutual interests. Wednesday ~~this~~ next week (29th November) would suit me very well, if there is nothing against it from your side.

Yours sincerely,
