

September 26, 1939

Dear Taylor,

I hope to visit Cambridge to-morrow, Thursday, arriving sometime in the morning, with a view to seeing you and your good companions. Also I want to bring down and introduce to you a Polish serologist, Dr ^{?Kleczkowski} Marchlewski, who has been working in Thornton's department at Rothamsted, but naturally wants to get on to some genuine serological work, as I suppose he will be in the country indefinitely.

I have written to Race about descriptions of demonstrations, etc., for publication in the Edinburgh Proceedings.

Yours sincerely,